

Wednesday 20th May

There are lots of flags that have red, white and blue but the one you will know the best is the Union Jack.

What countries make up the United Kingdom?

English

Today I would like you to share something with your family. Can you write down what you shared and how it made you feel. When you come back to school, we will want to talk about all the things you have done. Can you write down what memory you would like to share with your friends.

Maths

Today I would like you to use your ruler. You need to measure each of your feet and write down how much they measure. Remember to write the number followed by cm.
