

Monday 8th June

Americans call autumn the fall, can you think why they do that?

English

This is a funny week as some of you will be coming in to school tomorrow and most of you won't. This may make some of you feel funny so today I would like you to write down how you are feeling. Are you enjoying being at home? Are you missing school and your friends? What is your favourite time of the day? What is your biggest wish at the moment? Remember to write in sentences using capital letters and full stops. If you want to just talk to your grown up that is also fine, or if you are allowed your grown up can contact me and I will talk to you.
