

Hello Year 2,

I tried to find some facts to share with you and one I discovered I just didn't believe so I check it and it is FALSE! Sometimes we read things on the internet that are not true so we need to check it, I wish this fact was true, don't you? They actually have pink sweat not pink milk, don't think I would like to drink that!

Maths

Today we are going to be grouping, this is where we share equally but now, we are sharing more than between two. To write this as a number sentence we would use the symbol  $\div$  for division.

English

You might have already tried to find out who these people are and why we are learning about them, or your family may have been able to tell you.

For those of you that don't know, these people were explorers that went to Antarctica. The person in charge, who became famous because of what he did is this one. His name is Captain Robert Falcon Scott.

Your task today is to answer these questions.

Why do you think Captain Scott was famous?

How are famous people remembered today? How do we remember them and how do we know they are famous?
