

Friday 24th April

The end of the week already. I think this week has gone quickly and I hope you have managed to enjoy sometime outside. I sit and write to you each day, then I go and read in the garden for half-an-hour. Where I live, I regularly see and hear many birds. Can you hear them too? I am thrilled to hear from you that you have managed the fractions work so well. This weekend try and do something nice for a grown-up in your house. Maybe you could set the table without being asked, maybe make them a drink, go to bed the first time you were told, tidy up the table after a meal – the possibilities are endless!

Maths

Please return to week one and watch the clip for lesson 4 – counting in 10ths. You do not need to complete the worksheet on this, unless your child is desperate to!!

Then watch the clip for lesson 5 – tenths as decimals – and complete the worksheet (you can write the answers in your book, you do not have to print them). Remember the answers are on the website for you to use. In question 3 – make sure your child writes the decimal point (.) in their answer.

Parents, when completing this work with your child, you may wish to relate the tenths to money. For example: if you had £3.30 you have £3 and  $\frac{3}{10}$ th of a pound or 30p.

English

What was the best adjective you wrote yesterday to describe your bed? Mine was cosy.

In English today we are learning about verbs. Verbs are action words such as sing, walk, run, read. They can be in the future, present or past tense. Click the link below to watch the clips and find the associated work.

Here is a link to the BBC site where a poem called Please Mrs Butler is being read. Listen to the poem and answer the questions from the page to your adult. I hope you enjoy it – it is supposed to be funny!

Other activities:

- Play hide and seek by hiding some teddies around the house for someone else to find.
- Watch an episode of Blue Planet on BBC Iplayer.
- Make a fruit salad for a snack – you could help with the chopping.
- Sit somewhere quiet, either in your house or outside, and sketch what you can see.

I hope you have a good weekend and I'll be in touch next week.

Happy birthday for this weekend,
Amelia.

Stay safe
