

Wednesday 17th June

Morning everyone. Today you should receive the separate email with the Science and Topic learning for the week. I have enjoyed hearing about your learning on our calls and seeing the pictures you send me of your work. I know the rain is good for the plants in the garden, but I prefer the sunshine. Can you try to dance away the rain clouds, please?

English

The lesson today has a focus on poetry. There are clips to watch and quizzes to test yourself on. There are many, many different types of poetry. Activity 3 and 4 on the page have suggested things you could write a poem on. You can always choose your own topic. Write about whatever you would like to write a poem on. Again, feel free to send me a picture of the finished poem.

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/z9jhqfr>

Maths

Today I would like you to play some fraction games. The link below is to Top Marks website. Their games should work on laptops, mobiles, and tablets. Do not worry if you cannot play them all.

Parents, this site has games for Key Stage 2, so some games may not be suitable, yet. Practising saying fractions correctly, ordering fractions, finding equivalent fractions and identifying fractions is what your child should be able to do.

<https://www.topmarks.co.uk/maths-games/7-11-years/fractions-and-decimals>

Well done everyone,

Mrs C Flynn 😊